

MEN MAKE WAR ON WOMEN BUTCHERS

Amalgamated Meat Cutters Say that They Must Stop Them or Be Driven Out of the Trade for Good.

MANY ARE EMPLOYED ALL OVER THE CITY.

Effort Is to Be Made to Secure Their Discharge Before They Have Eaten Into the Arrangements of the Big Union.

It's war to the knife with the women butchers. The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Union of America are making a campaign against the fair wielders of the cleaver. The outstanding point in their campaign is that they have enlisted in their campaign against the women butchers, making one of the fair sex who claims an adeptness in the gentle art of butchery.

This last energetic recruit to the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Union is a pretty blue-eyed young woman with the appealing name of Love. Miss Lillian Love is the champion of the union, and Tuesday night she will speak at the meeting in Liberty Hall protesting against the employment of women in butchers' shops.

"It's true I can keep my pace with the best meat cutter I have ever met," said Miss Love to an Evening World reporter to-day. "I believed I know, in fact, that women can become just as expert butchers as men."

"She can cut a quarter of beef, shape a loin for the broiler, she can fix any kind of meat in the whole animal for the purpose of selling," said William C. Williams, President of the union, who is working to put the women butchers out of business.

"I don't think women should be employed in a butcher shop, even though they can perform the work as well as men. It is no place for them," said Miss Love.

When Charles Weisbecker started his trouble by employing boys and girls to serve the customers in his meat market, on Eighth avenue, there was much talk among the men meat workers.

"I don't think women should be employed in a butcher shop, even though they can perform the work as well as men. It is no place for them," said Miss Love.

"We have men all over New York investigating and when we find out that union men are employed as meat cutters we fine them $50 for cutting meat where women handle it. If the meat cutters are non-union we get them to join the union. In this way we hope to drive them out of business."

The present system is that these butchers employ, say, three men at regular union wages, $15 a week, in the ice-box and ten women at the counter. They have different cuts of meat handed out by men meat-cutters and placed in the glass cases, which are cold storage affairs, and then the women sell and wrap them up. Now some people object to having their meat already cut and wrapped by women butchers, and all the girls say they like the work and don't see why the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Workers should make such a fuss about it.

Miss Love, who is to offer expert testimony in the matter, is considered a clever dresser, and the boys in the movement against its enemies of the fair sex. She will make an exception of the union men, who she should not be butchers, although she wants you to understand they are as capable as men.

ATTACKS WIFE WHO TRIED TO SAVE HIM

Man Crazy by Liquor Slashes at Woman Who Attempted to Keep Him from Cutting His Own Throat.

Crazed by liquor, James Sullivan, of No. 206 West Sixty-fourth street, wound up a protruded spine to-day in his home by slashing his throat with a razor. Angered by the efforts of his young wife to stop him, he then attacked her.

Sullivan was in bed asleep, when he suddenly leaped out with a yell and seized a razor from a box at the head of the bed. He then turned on his wife, who was sitting up for hours watching him and trying to soothe his ravings.

She divided his purpose as soon as she saw him open the bureau and seized him. She tried to stop him at the same time calling for help. Her screams aroused the other occupants of the house, who rushed to her apartment, and also brought to the scene policeman Sargent of the West Sixty-eighth street station. When they arrived Sullivan had succeeded in gashing his throat deeply, and Mrs. Sullivan was unable to tell how she was rescued, and where the surgeons say that he will recover.

MISS JARVIS WILL RIDE MAN FASHION.

VICTORIA JARVIS

She Will Be Seen on a Bronco in First Battery Armory.

Miss Victoria Jarvis, of No. 253 Sixth street, Brooklyn, has accepted an invitation to ride astride on a bronco in the armory of the First Battery, Manhattan, Saturday evening, March 12. The bronco recently arrived from the West. The animal, it is said, has unsated many good riders. Those who have tried to master it have found the task difficult, for the animal, after going a few paces, usually throws the rider. Miss Jarvis is regarded as a skillful horsewoman, and her friends are confident that the bronco will not unsettle her. She has ridden many nattering horses, and she is popular on the Park Slope.

The invitation to ride the bronco," Miss Jarvis said last night, "was extended to me about two weeks ago. Several of my friends heard about the animal and they asked Capt. Best to let me ride it. I believe I will have no trouble in retaining my seat on the bronco. I understand that he is rather a wild little animal, but that does not matter for I am used to horses."

When her friends suggested that she ride the bronco Miss Jarvis consulted with her parents. She assured them that she would have no trouble in handling the animal, and they gave their consent. She will also appear at the Minerva Fair next spring, when she will ride astride in the woman's saddle class. She will wear a neat riding habit, consisting of a black coat, vest and knickerbockers and a black derby hat.

There is no better evidence of a bad condition of the blood and unhealthy state of the system than a sore that won't heal, or a festering, discharging Ulcer or Abscess. There are many ways by which the blood may become contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of malarial fever or other debilitating sickness, the excessive use of mercury in certain diseases, inactive kidneys and torpid liver, exposure and lack of nourishing food, weaken the constitution and cause the system to become congested with impurities which are taken up by the blood, and wherever the flesh is bruised or scratched a festering sore or discharging ulcer begins. A boil or blister, pimple or burn often develops into a frightful looking sore because of the unhealthy condition of the blood, and the place will continue to grow and spread, finally reaching the bones and causing them to decay unless the blood is purged and purified and the system thoroughly cleansed of all morbid and unhealthy accumulations. This cannot be done with washes, salves and soaps, which only afford temporary relief.

Such things neither make the blood any purer nor the system any cleaner, and to depend upon them alone is suicidal and senseless. The sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the poisons circulating in the blood, and as long as it remains impure the sore will never heal. It may scab over and appear to be getting well, but a fresh outpour of matter from the diseased blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, sometimes for years, slowly sapping away the life of the patient.

The only way to get rid of these disgusting evidences of impure blood is to remove the cause by purifying the polluted blood, and nothing does this so surely and effectively as S. S. S. It drives out of the circulation impurities and germs of every kind; and under the tonic effect of this great remedy the general health rapidly recuperates and broken-down constitutions are built up and strength and vigor are restored to all parts of the system. When S. S. S. gets into the circulation, impurities that have been clogging the blood and causing the old sore or ulcer are driven out through the natural channels of the body, and the place begins to heal, the discharge gradually ceases, new flesh forms and smooth, healthy skin hides all signs of the painful, sickening sore.

S. S. S. is an entirely vegetable remedy, containing both purifying and tonic properties, making it the ideal medicine where the blood is out of order and the health undermined by some previous ailment resulting in chronic sores, ulcers, boils or abscesses.

A sore that does not heal promptly, no matter how small, will bear watching. It is a sure indication of bad blood, and may develop into something far more serious than a common ulcer. It may be Cancer. Through our medical department we are rendering valuable help to those afflicted with sores and ulcers of various kinds. BRIDE SEEKS HER MISSING HUSBAND

Young Mrs. W. G. Olson, Jr., Has Warrant for Arrest of Wealthy Sea Captain's Son on Charge of Desertion.

A warrant is in the hands of the police at Stapleton, S. I., for the arrest of William G. Olson, Jr., son of a wealthy sea captain and shipowner of that place, the complainant being his bride of two months, who was formerly Miss Lulu Rose, and who won him only to lose him, she charges him with desertion.

Behind the wife's complaint and the issuance of the warrant is the story of a headstrong boy, who went a wooing in his own way and without an ear for his parents' nays. The Olsons had lived in Tompkins avenue in Stapleton for many years. Young William had an eye for all the pretty girls in the village, but finally he came to the conclusion that there was only one worth while, and he settled his affections on pretty Lulu Rose, daughter of a widow.

Heeded Not Parents' Wishes. When the old sea captain heard of his son's courtship and the frequency of his visits to the Rose home in Water street he set up an opposition. The young man's mother sided with the father, but William, Jr., was not to be turned aside.

Finally it was seen that his "case" was a hopeless one and the family thought that a change of air might do the lad good, and they moved to Brooklyn.

Thereafter William was as much in evidence in Stapleton as before and his ardor grew apace. He told a friend that it didn't cost much and that it didn't take long to get from Brooklyn to Staten Island.

Married in Haste. Early in December Mrs. Rose and Lulu presented themselves at the Olson home in Brooklyn and demanded to see William. Mrs. Olson said that her son was not there, but William had heard the voices of the visitors, and he made an exit over a back fence, it is said, and waited for his sweetheart and her mother on the corner.

William and Lulu were married on Dec. 16 in the German Presbyterian Church at Stapleton. A week later the young man disappeared, and his wife says his father took him away to the West Indies in one of his trading schooners. The vessel is expected back within a few days, and the young wife is ready to claim possession of her husband.

HAVANA HAS A CARNIVAL. HAVANA, Feb. 25.—The anniversary of the start of the last war for independence was observed yesterday. Practically every place of business in Havana was closed, flags were displayed everywhere and the Prado was crowded with carnival merry-makers.

Kenton, Ohio, Aug. 22, 1903. Some eight years ago a small blister appeared on my upper lip. I tried several local applications in an effort to heal it, but without avail. Finally I consulted a doctor, but the sore did not yield to his treatment, so consulted another without any better results. The third doctor pronounced it Eczema. The sore in the meantime had spread quite a little and the skin about the sore was discolored. After treating it for Eczema and not getting any better, the doctor pronounced it Epithelioma Cancer, and advised that I go to Chicago and have it cut out. I did not do this, but having had S. S. S. recommended to me by a couple of friends, I began its use, and the sore soon began to heal, and in using some six bottles of S. S. S. medicine it healed up entirely, and has never returned. Several years have elapsed since its disappearance.

JOHN L. SAMS. New Castle, Pa. I was the victim of a severe burn, having stepped into a crucible of molten iron. My right foot to the shoe top was fearfully burned. You can get an idea of its severity by my telling you that I was unable to walk for months. I suppose my blood was bad, as the place did not seem to heal. Getting discouraged at the slow progress towards recovery, I decided to use S. S. S., and am pleased to say that the medicine did its work well. It went into the circulation, thoroughly cleansed and enriched my blood, and in due time the affected area began to heal. To-day it is entirely healed, and S. S. S. deserves great credit for what it did for me. 120 Pearson St. CHARLES HUNTER.

DRIVER SLAIN FOR HIS MONEY

Police Believe Man Found in Employer's Yard with a Fractured Skull Was Victim of Thugs Who Watched Him.

The police have what they believe is a murder mystery to solve. They are investigating the death of George Wagner, thirty years old, of No. 261 Boston road, and they incline to the belief that he was murdered.

They are supported in their theory by Coroner Barry's physician, Dr. Joseph I. Reigelman, who performed an autopsy on Wagner's body, and found that he had come to his death by a fracture of the base of the skull, caused by some blunt instrument.

Pockets Turned Inside Out. Wagner was employed as a driver and collector for Bruckner Bros., manufacturers of soda water apparatus, at Nos. 94-96 East One Hundred and Sixty-first street. He was found yesterday in the stable yard adjoining the factory. His pockets were not only empty but turned inside out. Wagner was unconscious. William Tietjen, another driver, saw him lying between two trucks. He called John Johnson and Max Olnstead, also drivers employed at Bruckner's, and they carried Wagner to his home, only a few doors away. Drs. Dennis J. Quirk and Monahan were summoned, but they could not revive him. Wagner died shortly afterward.

George Bruckner, a member of the firm, said that Wagner came back from his route at a quarter of two Tuesday night. He had collected $200, and this he turned over to Mr. Bruckner. At that time Mr. Bruckner believed that Wagner was intoxicated, and for that reason, when Wagner's unconscious body was found, he believed that his driver had fallen from his truck.

This theory is not borne out by the autopsy, which showed that there was no alcohol in Wagner's stomach, and also showed that there were no other wounds on the head, which would necessarily have been there if Wagner had fallen.

The theory of the police is that some one knew that Wagner had collected a considerable sum of money and followed him to the stable, where the driver was killed with a blunt instrument. There was not a penny in Wagner's pockets. Mrs. Wagner is positively her husband had at least $2 when he left home Tuesday.

JEALOUSY, HE KILLS WIFE. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Frank Lewandowski killed his wife with a razor last night and then cut his own throat. Before he died he told the police that he killed his wife because he was jealous of one of her three sons by a former marriage. Lewandowski said the woman liked her son better than she did him.

DEATHS FROM PNEUMONIA.

Week Past Has Marked End of Many Prominent Persons—Hospitals All Over the Country as Well as in New York Overcrowded.

Never in recent times have so many prominent persons died from pneumonia as during the past week, and the disease is raging in epidemic proportions all over the country. The record of 322 deaths in New York last week is closely followed by Chicago, Boston and other centres where, as well as in New York, the hospitals are overcrowded with pneumonia victims. Physicians are devoting more attention than ever to means to prevent pneumonia, and the leading authorities agree that the majority of fatal pneumonia cases are caused by the patient taking for a cold some so-called "cough cure" or "balm" which depends upon poisonous drugs for its effect. These drugs deaden the nerves and stop secretion along the breathing tract, which is always followed by congestion and inflammation, and that causes pneumonia. There is the same danger in the use of other so-called cures which depend upon the alcohol they contain for their temporary stimulating effect. It is almost impossible to find a single preparation among patent medicines that does not contain these dangerous poisonous drugs and alcohol—and it is inviting pneumonia and death to use them. Without these injurious drugs Father John's Medicine cures colds long standing coughs and all throat and lung troubles. It is not a patent medicine or "cough syrup," but a body builder and tonic. It cures colds by soothing and healing the throat and nourishes the system at the same time. Its gentle laxative effect strengthens the stomach and corrects the digestion, so that each organ of the body is able to properly perform its work—that is how the poisonous waste matter and impurities are driven out of the system. Its food elements make strength and restore to sound health those who are weak and run down.
